SOMETHING REGARDING ELECTRICITY

During the next two weeks there will be a big meeting to discuss many important questions which will be answered by men who are well informed upon the subject of electricity. A public meeting will no doubt follow this one that the public may have a chance to get better acquainted with the subject mentioned.

It is pretty generally known that within about nine months time the debt of the Main street paving job will have been finished and if electricity is voted on here and installed the people's taxes will only be about the same as they have been in the past which is about 7 1-2 mills.

If there is anyone in Smethport who is thinking that their taxes are going to be raised to such an enormous rate that they would be unable to meet them, then why not seek out the advice of some of your best business men and they will enlighten you. You cannot get very close to a subject like this without using that trusted pencil and the sooner one gets to that the better.

It will stand you well to come out and vote and take deep interest in the public's welfare on all occasions. Watch The Miner for future dates. Smethport should have electricity by all means. The Borough Council held a meeting last Monday evening and adopted the ordinance on the electric light proposition and expect to have the same ready by June 14, to put it to the vote of the people. This is a proposition for the women to take an interest in just as well as the men. It is the hearty will of the Smethport Borough Council to have the women get busy in this matter as it pertains to them just as much and perhaps more so than to the men. So dear kind ladies turn a helping hand toward Smethport's electricity proposition. It is now understood by good authority that Eldred is in favor of joining to help Smethport with a transmission line to be connected at Portville.

THE FULMER'S INJURED.

W. R. Fulmer, who lives on the Daly Brook farm about four miles from town was quite seriously injured Tuesday morning, April 26th at about 10 o'clock, while plowing for a neighbor. He struck a stone causing the handle of the plough to fly back and hit him, and knock him insensible. Mrs. Fulmer at once telephoned Dr. Hamilton who advised her as to his care, and in a short time he was much improved.

Wednesday evening, bad fortune befell Mrs. Fulmer who with a pail of milk in her hand, tried to take a cow away from its calf. The cows head flew back and hit Mrs. Fulmer in the face a fourth of an inch from the eyeball. Dr. Hamilton treated her case Thursday. Both patients are getting along as well as possible.

PICTURE IN WOMENS HOME COMPANION

In the May issue of the Woman's Home Companion there is a very pretty picture of a family of eight children, among these is one set of triplets, and one of twins. The triplets are six-years of age, the twins eight and the other three children a few years older. The mother of this attractive group of youngsters was formerly Miss Mollie Warshofsky of East Smethport, she resided here about 18 years ago. She is now Mrs. J. A. Larkin of New York City. She has often visited Mrs. George Howe of this place.

COBB TEACHES SAN ANTONIO KIDS

It's all very well to meet the king of England, or shake hands with the President. But this quartette of proud and happy San Antonio lads wouldn't change places with anyone. For they are taking a batting lesson from the one and only "Ty" Cobb, new manager of the Detroit Tigers.

FIRST BASE BALL GAME OF SEASON

The first base ball game of the season will take place at the Fair Grounds Sunday, May 8, at 3:30, if the weather will permit. If the weather is bad the Manager has decided that the game shall be postponed and all will be notified of such that can be reached by phone in plenty of time. The Smethport club will have as their opponents a strong team composed of many hired men from Franklinville for this big contest. The band, under the leadership of Editor Russel Lindsley, will entertain with music throughout the afternoon and everything possible will be done to make your visit to the ball grounds Sunday as pleasant as possible by the management.

There will be several new faces in the Smethport line-up this year that never appeared before, and we hope that they will give a good account of themselves.

FINAL EXERCISES OF CHURCH GUILDS

The closing exercises of St. Agnes, St. Margarets and St. Helens Guilds, under the direction of Miss Mae Choate assisted by Mrs. Lewis Robinson, were given Tuesday evening at St. Luke's Parish House before an appreciative audience composed of the mothers and friends of the children.

After the performance the Guild members and their guests went up stairs to the Guild rooms where an exhibition of all the sewing done by the children during the year, was held, prizes were awarded for best attendance, quality of sewing, etc.

Mrs. Lewis Robinson and Miss Eulalia King had charge of St. Helen's Guild this year and Miss Mae Choate and Mrs. W. S. Palmer of St. Margaret's. After the distribution of prizes light refreshments were served and every one had a delightful time.

DIES VERY SUDDENLY

The wife of City Solicitor, who just returned from Atlantic City, fails to rally from anaesthetic following operations. The shocking death of Mrs. Jessie Brown Schoonmaker of Bradford, wife of Frederick P. Schoonmaker of No. 186 Congress street, occurred Tuesday afternoon at 1:20 o'clock at the Bradford hospital, following a surgical operation for the removal of a tumor. She never rallied from the anaesthetic.

The news of Mrs. Schoonmaker's death will cause a profound shock to the entire community as she was about the house Monday as usual, returning only Tuesday morning from Atlantic City in company with her husband.

Mrs. Schoonmaker was in excellent spirits Tuesday, although she had previously arranged for the operation, and attended the weekly luncheon of the Monday club at the Country Club in the afternoon, not telling any of her friends there of her intended operation. In the evening she went to the hospital, accompanied by her husband and daughter, Mrs. Walter Blaisdell, to undergo an operation.

Mrs. Schoonmaker had been aware for several months that she would have to undergo an operation. Deceased had long been one of Bradford's most prominent women and were very well known by a great number of Smethport people. She possessed a beautiful character and a charming personality which won for her friends on all sides. The news of her sudden death will cause widespread grief and the sympathy of the community goes out to her grief-stricken family.

Mrs. Schoonmaker was educated at Alfred University and was married in this city to F. P. Schoonmaker. She is survived by her husband, by two daughters, Mrs. Walter G. Blaisdell, and Miss Fay Lillian Schoonmaker, and one son, Max Schoonmaker; also by her father, Hon. W. W. Brown, also of this city.

MOTHER HELD GIRL PRISONER 16 YEARS

Glen Falls, N. Y., May 2.—Imprisoned for 16 years by her mother, during which time she has never seen the sunlight or looked upon another human being besides her mother and a sister, has been the lot of Jessie Hall, 31 years of age, discovered recently by William Hennesey, a humane society superintendent. The Halls live in a remote section of Saratoga county in a small house shut off from view by a clump of trees. Within the house Mrs. Hall constructed in a corner of a room a cell in which she confined her daughter. Wire netting was stretched from floor to ceiling and the windows were barred with slabs of wood; allowing only thin rays of light to enter. A room opening off the cell was similarly shut off. The place was damp and dismal, the humane officers says. He has begun proceedings to have the mentality of the entire family, including the mother, and her two daughters, examined. $350,000 FIRE DESTROYS LARGE ERIE RUBBER WORKS

Erie, Pa., April 28.—Fire swept the Keystone Rubber Works at 5 o'clock this morning and in an hour the building and contents were in ruins. The loss is $350,00. The cause of the fire is unknown, but is believed to have been started by an overheated boiler in the compound room. The building and plant was owned by Joseph Mooney. He will rebuild immediately.

About 150 persons were employed in the plant where tires and tubes were manufactured. Lately the force has been reduced on account of lack of orders.

While fighting the flames one of the walls caved in and several firemen narrowly escaped injury. The structure was a three-story brick building.

The burning of the rubber has clouded the entire city with a pall of heavy smoke. The fire spread so rapidly in the rubber that it was impossible to save the building which was a fire-proof structure.

BUFFALO MAN HELD FOR OLEAN CRIME

Olean, April 28.—Police early this morning arrested two men suspected of a number of highway robberies and burglaries in this section in the last few months.

The prisoners are: Anuzio Nastazi, 31 years old of Erie, Pa., and Franceso Callycell, 21 years old of Buffalo, taken into custody for the robbing of Frank Robinson, a restaurant proprietor, in his room in North Union street at 4 o'clock this morning.

Police are of the opinion that they are gunmen who have operated in cities in this part of the country in the crime wave.

Mary White, 23 years old, is under arrest as a disorderly person. he worked with the pair, it is believed.

While Robinson was sleeping in his room in the restaurant building two men entered, strangled him almost unconscious and took $50 from his trousers, ripping a pocket from the clothing to get the roll. The door of the room was unlocked, and the men were choking him when he awoke. Although he was severely weakened by his handling, the restaurant proprietor haM crawled to the police station half a block away, and

Suspicion fell on Callycell and Nas-

Suspicion feel on Callycell and Nastazi, who have been watched by police for some time, and they were taken from a house in Higgins Avenue by Police Chief John C. Dempsey at 5 o'clock this morning.

The girl eluded the police, and was not in her home in the Ross block, in Union Street when they got there. She was found in a Wayne Street house.

Police departments of the surrounding country will be furnished descriptions of the prisoners.

SUSPECTED MURDERER IS ARRESTED IN ERIE

Colorado Springs, Col., April 29.—Washington Rinker, chief of Denver detectives, and Huges D. Harper, chief of Colorado Springs police, last night declared that they can prove positively that Charles Chere, captured by Erie police Wednesday, is one of the three bandits who murdered John Lindamood, night marshal of Fountain, Colorado, in attempt to rob the First National bank there on the night of April 7.

They also are certain that Coleman gang of whom Chere is said to have been a leader, is responsible for the robbery of $23,000 from a Denver bank messenger and for numerous other bank robberies or attempted robberies in the past two months.

Thomas J. Coleman, a pal of Chere's under arrest in Denver, has already confessed his part in the robbery of the bank messenger. Edna Carrol, believed to have been the third member of the trio that murdered Lindamood, and a member of the gang, is also under arrest. Police claim that her shoe fit measurements of tracks left in the snow by the Fountain robbers.

CREW OF MYSTERY SHIP PRISONERS OF PIRATES

Norfolk, Va., April 28.—If a message picked up in a bottle that floated in from the Atlantic Ocean is true, the members of the crew of the schooner Carroll A. Deering, which came ashore January 17th, at Diamond Shoals deserted but with all sails set, were captured by a pirate. Their fate has remained a mystery since the schooner came ashore.

The bottle containing the message was found by Christopher C. Gray, a coast guard, while patrolling the beach near Buxton, N. C. It was turned over to Lieutenant Commander Deotte, division commander of the coast guard service. The bottle from appearance had been in the water some time. The paper on which the message was written was probably wet before it was put into the bottle. Some of the words were blurred and could not be deciphered.

The message read: "Deering captured by oil burning boat. Something like chaser. Taking off everything. * * * cuffing (probably handcuffing) crew. Crew hiding all over ship. No chance to make escape. Finder please notify * * * qts of Deering." (Missing words undecipherable.

On the night of January 16th the coast guard on the midnight watch at Platteras, on Diamond Shoals, reported "All quiet." At daybreak on the morning of January 17 the schooner Carroll A. Deering, a four masted vessel of the modern type, was seen stranded on the northwest corner of the shoals. The lifesavers made an effort to reach the craft, but high seas drove them back. The coast guard cutter Manning went to the vessel's assistance, and signaled repeatedly but got no answer. ..ot eva distress signal was flying on the schooner.

On the morning of January 18th coast guards succeeded in getting on board the Deering. They found no signs of life, other than a gray cat. The vessel was in excellent condition. Wrecking tugs endeavored to float the schooner, but without success. The seas drove the ship higher and higher toward the beach. The vessel had struck on a quicksand shoal and she began to sink rapidly. When wrecking crews boarded the ship she had sunk nine feet in water and quicksand and her seams were opening.

About a month ago high seas snatched off the stern of the ship and it floated out to sea. The rest of the ship has disappeared in the quick sand.

GIRL FOUND DEAD, POLICE SEARCH FOR HER BROTHER

Lewistown, Pa., April 28.—Emma Rhoades, 14 years old, of this place, was found dead near Wagner today with bullet wounds in the head. Her brother, Reed Rhoades, 21, the last person seen with her, is sought by the police to ascertain whether he knows anything about her death.

The girl and her mother left here Friday night and went to McClure, where they lived in an abandoned country school house. They told neighbors they were on a fishing trip.

Last night they were seen going through McClure. The brother carried a rifle. He wore a soldier's uniform and an overseas cap. Reed Rhoades about two years ago was sent to the Huntingdon Reformatory for attempting to rob a bank near here. He was released about two weeks ago.

CAR BACKFIRES WHEN CRANKED; DRIVER DIES

Warren, Pa., April 28.—Funeral services for Claude Dougherty were held from the family home in Lottsville Friday afternoon.

Claude Dougherty was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Dougherty, of Lottsville, but for some time past has been running a garage in Union City.

He was cranking a car early last week when it back-fired, the crank hitting him in the side. The doctor who attended him stated that he was suffering from neuritis of the heart. He was taken to Lottsville and a nurse engaged, but after six day's suffering he died. He is survived by his widow, two children and three sisters, besides his parents.

Do not forget the base ball game to be held on the Fair Gorunds on next Sunday, May 8. Franklinville will play the new Smethport club at that time. Come out and help the boys get started.

MAN OF MYSTERY SAID TO BE BRADFORD SALESMAN

Otto Heler is Said to Have No Knowledge or Remembrance That He Married Ridgway Girl Five Weeks Ago.

A Pittsburgh dispatch to the Warren Times of Friday says:

Otto Heler, formely of Coudersport, Pa., is the man of mystery of Mercy hospital here. Hospital physicians think he is a victim of amnesia.

Outside of his mind being a blank as to the past he is in good shape Saturday when a reporter visited him he was propped up on a pillow smoking a cigaret.

He has no knowledge or remembrance that he was married five weeks ago at Ridgway, Pa.

He don't know her maiden name or remember ever seeing her before.

He is a veteran of the world war. Don't remember any of the fighting. Din't know there was a war.

In fact, he don't recall a single thing in the last five years. It's an entire blank.

"I should worry what has happened in the last five years," he told a reporter.

But that wife—she is just a hummer, pretty as a picture. While he don't remember marrying her and the first conscious glimpse of her was when he saw her standing beside his hospital bed, yet he has fallen madly in love with her. He says: "While I don't remember of ever getting married, you can tell the world that I got some pretty wife while I've been unconscious. That's one consolation," he said. "She seems like an entire stranger to me."

Monday he left home here for work. A little later a taxi drew up in front of the house. The wife was amazed to see the taxie driver help her husband into the house. It was quickly evident he was not soused but he soon became unconscious. The family physician soon arrived and hustled Heler to the hospital.

He is a traveling salesman for a Bradford, Pa., firm.

JAZZ IN THE ZOO

Jazz music was tried on the animals in the Central Park Zoo in New York City, the other day, with instructive results. It was administered by what is described as "a good jazz band."

The lions immediately fell into excitement. "Ackbar, the big male lion, came to his feet with a leap, glaring around. Helen and Edmee, lionesses, and baby Hippimenes faced the cage of Achbar, every hair bristlink, and waiting his opinion. It came with a roar that interrupted the music." The enraged lions, however, stopped thrashing around their cage when the band swung softly into "Lead, Kindly Light."

The polar bear retreated into his dark cave trembling violently, when the band played full jazz. "Bedlam broke loose in the monkey house. Ringtailed and sloth monkeys shook their cage doors and screamed, chattered and raved, some with evident delight and some with wrath. Big, blue-nosed apes did jungle war dances, and Joe, the chimpanzee, wept bitterly." The wolves were scared nearly out of their wits. Then, when "The Suwanee River" was played, quiet fell.

These natural reactions at the zoo are richly suggestive as to the effects of jazz on human beings. The sense of outrage and indignation shown by the lions may represent the reaction experienced by normal men and women with an appreciation of real music. The monkeys behaved very much, on the whole, as misled human crowds often do in their larger cages, when an aggregation of jabb experts turns loose its jungle music.

Jazz, at best, is civilized music reverting to savagery—melody and rhythm depraved and harmony jangled. Many a suffering music-lover will rise up to remark that that New York band had the right hunch—that jazz belongs in the monkey house, though its introduction there many not be quite fair to the animals. —[Olean Herald.

THREE OLD PROVERBS

"A Rolling Stone Gathers No Moss." Do you remember how often your wise advisers have quoted it as an unanswerable argument against any new move on your part? The statement is a true, but the application is utterly deceptive. Who wants moss, anyhow? Do you want to be a moss-back? The dictionary says a moss-back is "a person so sluggish in his way of life or thought that he may be likened to a stone or old tree covered with moss." Even assuming "moss" to mean wealth, the proverb is misapplied. The people who have taken root and refused to budge from one place or one way of life are not the people who have achieved the greatest success. The most successful men are those of wide and varied interests.

Then there is that old story about "Sticking to Your Bush." It is not true that the boy who stuck to his bush after the berries were hard to find carried the largest pail full. The boy who moved often enough to be where the berries were thickest had the best chance to come out ahead.

We are told, too, that "Perseverance Conquers all Things." Don't believe it True, a certain amount of perserverance is essential to a successful career But the man who embarks upon a new an untired enterprise with the unalterable determination to stick to it to the bitter end is liable to find the end in his grave without having accomplished his purpose. We are all liable to make mistakes in forecasting the outcome of a new venture. When you have put forth evey effort and tried every turn possible and still the end is exorably against you, when your path is blocked by a stone wall too high to climb and too strong to butt it down, it is better to take some other path than to butt your brains out with no effect upon the wall. Many a man has been ruined for life because he was too perserving to quit while there was enoungh of him left to achieve success elsewhere

When the old proverb contradicts common sense and universal experience, forget the proverb

PEACE IN A MONTH

It is expected that the Knox peace resolution will be disposed of by the Senate within a month The Colombian treaty, the emergency tariff bill, the Army and Navy appropriation bills, and possibly the immigration bill will be out of the way by that time, and the road will be clear for consideration of the peace resolution Many Senators are understood to favor delay in the passage of the resolution until the outcome of the notes to the allies on the question of American rights in man dates is assured There is also said to be a disposition to defer action for peace until after May 1, when the French are planning to apply presure to Germany It is possible that a situation will develop that will necessitate a change in the language of the measure

A TRIBUTE TO THE DOG

A number of years ago, a lawyer by the name of Herbert J Hansen of Vicksburg, Mass., was attorney for a man who prosecuted another for wantenly shooting his dog. Mr Hansen made the following address to the jury, with the result that in less than ten minutes a verdict was found far in excess of the amount claimed:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name become traitors, to their faith The most that a man has he may loose It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A mans reputation may be scrafice in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall one their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stones of malice when failure settles its clouds upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

"Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in properity and in poverty, in health and in sickness He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounters with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends, desert, he remains. When riches takes wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death."

UNITED AT THE OPEN GATE

The throwing open of the White House grounds to the general public, the re-establishment of the Easter Monday egg-rolling carnival, the revival of regular receptions and the renewal of the festivities in the executive mansion, will affect directly only a limited number of people living in the city of Washington or from time to time journeying there. A hundred million Americans more or less will not get within sight of the White House while Mr. Harding is president. Nevertheless the new order has its pleasing effect throughout the whole length and breadth of the nation; and the glow of hospitality of the new regime extends from lakes to gulf and from ocean to ocean. The people of the United States are pleased to know that those who live in the home of the president are friendly and human, and are able to reflect accurately the openhearted, essentially informal spirit of the country. They like to know that the front door of the White House, in a sense the front door of the country, is no longer bolted, barred and guarded in a way more monarchial than monarchy, they like to know that it stands wide open, a symbol of hospitality.—[Detriot Free Press

PUBLIC WORKS MAKE JOBS

Senator William S Kenyon of Iowa, Chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, has introduced a resolution requesting the President, "if not incompatible with the public interests, to take measures that the public works of the United States for which appropriations are now available maybe expedited and actively prosecuted during the present period of diminished industrial activity" A preamble to the resolution recites that it is regarded as sound governmental policy to take up public works at a time of industrial depression, that Congress has appropriated the necessary funds for the work, and that immediate prosecution of such works not only would give employment to largo numbers of men but also would stimulate the production of materials required therein The fact the Mr Kenyon is chairman of the committee to which his resolution was referred indicates that it is likely to receive early and favorable consideration

Ginseng is a product that has no market value for food, medicine or other use in this country, yet in 1919 there were shipments of 282,000 pounds of ginseng to China. The root sold for from $3 to $23 a pound. In the middle of the last century exports of ginseng to China were eight times what they were in 1919, but the price at that time averaged 94 cents per pound. The 1919 price averaged $7.29 per pound.

Ex-Secretary Colby spoke golden words at the Jefferson birthday celebration, when he said that he and his colleagues purposed to sustain the men in the present Administration who are striving for the right, and then added:

"When America speaks to the world on a question of principle, let us hope that it will not be with the sound of many and confusing voices. It should sound a clear and unmistakeable note"

The note is always clear and unmistakeable when it is really America that speaks: as she did speak several times for instance, through the Hon Bainbridge Colby.

LITTLE THOUGHTLETS

Don't Like What They Laugh At.

It men amuses,
Makes 'em laugh,
To see another
Get the gaff
In type that's cold,
But how they roar
When they themselves
Are satired sore!

I am so weary of this drearsome rain; weary of paying the gas man his price, weary, so weary of frost bitten pie—give me a slice of Fourth of July Backward, swing backward, Oh! season of snow—mercury fifteen or twenty below; turn on the heat of the tropical zone, roast me until I am cooked to the bone I am so tired of freezing my nose, weary of chilblains and corns on my toes; weary of trying to sleep with cold feet—TURN ON THE HEAT, MISTER, TURN ON THE HEAT"

THE DISCOURAGED RURAL POET

There's a lot o' things around here
Don't seem to fit a poet's rhyme—
No odds how well a feller sings
They'll jist outsing him every time.
The patter of the summer rain,
A "Bob White" on the pasture fence
Both sing so sweet a poem don't
Seem any sort of consequence.
O where's a rhyme to represent
The birds a-singin' in the wood
Or soft enough that it will fit
The tenderness of motherhood?
Or taken a youngun— yours or mine—
Nigh buried 'neath his floppin' hat,
With dreams of fish an' swimmin' holes,
Naw where's a fitting rhyme for that?

lic schools after September 1, 1927.

For third-class districts of which there are 187, and in which class includes Kane borough, the minimum salary for elimentary teachers ranges from $1,000 to $1,400; high school teachers and supervisors from $1,200 to $1,600; elementary principals from $1,400 to $1,800 and high school principals from $2,000 to $2,500. In these districts the state will pay 35 per cent of the minimum schedule for elementary teachers.

There are 2,236 fourth class school districts in the state, being the township distrfcts, employing at the present time 23,275 teachers and the minimum salary for elementary teachers has been set at $100 a month, and for high school teachers $130. In these districts the Edmonds bill obligates the state to pay 50 per cent of the minimum salary for each teacher employed.

In discussing the feature of the bill which sets the standard to be attained by teachers before they can enter the public schools after 1927, Dr. Finegan says:

"The bill is constructive in its character. It sets adequate standards to protect the schools; it does not drive a single teacher out of the profession, but it requires those who are not qualified to take special training courses during summer vacations so that they may ultimately become qualified.

"For the benefit of those who do not meet the required standards, it is provided that summer schools and extension courses shall be maintained in each of the 13 state normal schools and in the colleges and universities of the state.

"The fact is recognized that teachers of adequate education and training may not be obtained except upon the payment of compensation equivalent to that which persons of similar education and training may command in other vocations of life. This provision of the bill is founded upon the theory that no public service exacted is of greater importance to the commonwealth than the proper education of its children."—Kane Republican.

OLD-TIME STARS IN CAPITALISTIC CLASS

Many Players Can Count Their Wealth in Six Figures.

Some Examples Cited of What Several of Better-Known Ball Tossers Have Piled Up for Their Comfort in Old Age.

High salaries and long seasons have placed ball players in the capitalistic class. That is, some ball players. There are many men on the diamond today who can count their wealth in six figures, the result of careful attention to their work and to their investments. Here are just a few examples of what some of the better-known ball players have piled up for themselves by their ability to play ball and to entertain the public:

Ned Hanlon, former manager of the Brooklyns, can count his wealth up to six figures. He has real estate in Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Greater New York.

Clark Griffith, the Washington manager, is a well-to-do ranch owner, with Montana land enough, if it was in New York city, to outrich the Astor estate.

Jim McGuire owns pretty much of Albion, Mich., and is one of its leading citizens. Jim has played ball for 25 years, and since he got into the big leagues has saved his money.

Dannie Richardson is one of Elmira's most successful business men, he and his brother, who is mayor of the city, owning the biggest dry goods store in the southern tier.

Joe McGlunity is interested in an iron foundry at South McAlester, Okla., and is well fixed.

Sandow Mertes has real estate in San Francisco and other property in California.

John J. McGraw, the New York manager, should be able to draw a check in the five-figure class. McGraw is of a speculative turn of mind and has been very successful in picking winners.

Dan Brouthers is now one of Wappinger Falls' leading citizens and one of its wealthiest. Dan played a couple of years ago with the Poughkeepsie club and led the Hudson River league batting.

WHO WILL BE "FIND" OF PRESENT SEASON?

Each year brings its season's best friend to baseball.

Last year Lanky Bob Meusel came up to the Yanks—young, capable, a great hitter.

Meusel was called the season's best find.

Later in the year Walter Mails came up to the Cleveland Indians just in time to clinch the pennant and assist in making them world's champs.

Just now the question arises as to who will be the find of the present year.

Will he be a Ruth or Cobb or Johnson.

That's what makes it interesting—the waiting and the doping it out.

George Kelly, playing first base for the New York Giants drove out his seventh home run clout against Boston in New York, Tuesday. While the wonderful Babe Ruth was getting only his sixth home run off of the Boston Americans. Kelly seems able to swat the little apple just as well as any one in either league.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT AT HAMLITON, N. Y.

(From the Kane Republican).

Little Mabel Williams, who has been attending our high school for several weeks, will be a cripple for life as the result of an accident sustained while on her way home from school last Thursday afternoon. Mabel's mother, Mrs. Lillian Williams, is a house keeper in the home of Walter E. Smith on the Eaton road. The Smith district send their children to the high school here in a large three-seated wagon, driven by Mrs. Ella Johnson of Pecksport. She comes to the high school after the children a little before 4 o'clock. This she did Thursday with seven children in the wagon. Her usual load was fourteen. When she reached a point opposite the play grounds an automobile horn warned her to turn out of the road. Roy Sherman was testing out a Ford car and with him was Carson Denny. Just as Mrs. Johnson started to turn out, little Mabel Williams fell out of the wagon. The two men in the car were the only witnesses. No one in the wagon seemed to know that the child had fallen out.

The yelling of the men warned Mrs. Johnson that something was wrong. As soon as she had stopped her horses she realized that a very serious accident had occurred. She unhitched her horses and then went to the rescue of the child. When she fell out of the wagon one of her little feet caught between the spokes of the wheel, and when it revolved it broke the leg over the axle, and as the wagon kept moving the little leg was twisted off. The wheel had revolved three times, twisting the cords of the leg round the hub. The child was clinging to the reach under the wagon and could not be removed until Carson Denny had removed the wheel. Roy Sherman went for a doctor and by the time the child was taken from the wagon Dr. Langworthy was on the scene. He soon had the flow of blood stopped and M. J. Clark with his new Franklin taxi took the doctor and the child to Faxton hospital in Utica. Little Mabel had been conscious and brave through all the preparations and refused to go to the hospital unless the doctor would promise that she could have a new foot. Mrs. Johnson notified the mother, who went at once to the hospital.

It was necessary to amputate above the knee of one leg and the other leg was broken twice above the knee and dislocated the knee cap. The Rotary club of Utica learned of the accident and furnished a special nurse.

Mabel was very bright, active, lovable child, and although she has been here only a few weeks, she has made many friends. Everyone in this community extends sympathy to the suffering little one and the sorrowing mother.

IMMIGRANT IS LABOR HEAD

Washington, May 4.—Forty years ago an immigrant boy eight years old, from Tredegar, Wales, passed wistfully through the old immigration station at Castle Garden to the land of an opportunity which was to accord him high public honors in later life.

Recently this boy, James J. Davis, now Secretary of Labor, stood among the immigrant throngs at the Ellis Island station. He was making the first of a series of inspections in a general survey of immigration stations on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, for the purpose, he said, of improving the service "along common-sense and heart-sense lines."

Secretary Davis was not long in putting the "heart sense" idea into effect. He saved the red tape which would have deported recently a widow and her four little children and a pretty Polish girl of nineteen years. He ordered that an appealing Spanish stowaway, clad in rags and wearing broken shoes, from which his bare feet protruded, be outfitted.

The "common sense" Secretary Davis displayed in recommending several changes which he believed would better conditions at Ellis Island, although he said he found "much to praise and little to condemn, in spite of complaints made in the past." The improvements which Secretary Davis favors are renovation, where it is required; the establishment of a delousing department, and a plan whereby radicals will not be sent to Ellis Island until the eve of their deportation.

FAMOUS CRIPPLE DIES

Lost Arm, Both Legs In Youth But Achieved Success

St. Paul, April 28.—Michael J. Dowling, 85, a banker of Olivia, Minn., who gained notice for his success in life after losing both legs, an arm and a hand in his boyhood, is dead.

After the war, Mr. Dowling made an eight months' tour of England lecturing to disabled war veterans on rehabilitation problems at the request of the British government. For the last two years he had been touring this country in the interest of war wounded.

Suffering amputation of both legs, his left arm and the greater part of his right hand when 1 years old as a result of exposure in a blizzard, Mr. Mr. Dowling was shortly afterward left an orphan and became a county charge. The county commissioners became interested in his case and sent him to Carlton College. His rapid rise followed. His widow and three children survive.

"What would you do if you had a million dollars?" asks the Memphis Appeal. We'd overhaul "Resteless Rebecca," get four spare tires, stock up with delicatessen, point the radiator into the sun, throw her into high speed and chase summer weather all ground the world. Then we'd turn the balance of the money over to some charitable institution that has more use for money than we would have.

There was a dance in Quirk's Hall last Saturday night. The weather was very bad but at that quite a few got out and enjoyed themselves.

This $3985 Marmon 34 is the identical $5000 Marmon—not a new model, not a lesser car. There is not the slightest compromise in quality. The entire difference is due to the times.

The $3985 Marmon 34 is, in fact, the finest car we ever built. We've used the recent lull—never closing our factory—to make added refinements. The Marmon 34 has continued to sell as the foremost $5000 car.

We have made this revision at the earliest opportunity—six months sooner than anticipated. We make one complete reduction, instead of several steps downward. Our new price is based on the anticipated lowered production costs of the next 18 months.

In Limousines and Afoot, Rich And Poor Come to be "Cured" by Miracle Man of Jersey City

Jersey City, April 28.—Coddled dragging their twisted limbs, groping with sightless eyes, a tragic company of rich and poor linked in the common bond of affliction and hope gathered at Socialist hall.

More than a thousand came. They filled the little frame building and overflowed into the street. Mothers with shawls wrapped round their heads came carrying paralytic babies, pitiful distorted little faces, deformed little bodies that seemed beyond all human aid.

Old men racked with rheumatism, young girls with their limbs encased in metal and steel contrivances that looked like instruments of torture, sat crowed together in the narrow hall awaiting their turns.

Behind a white screen at the end of the room a man was operating who had promised that with his hands alone he would cure them of all the ills which medicine and science had classified as hopeless.

His name is P. D. Panoulias, middle-aged Creek candy manufacturer, whose alleged "miracles" of healing have created a furore. It is almost impossible to find a street car motorman or news dealer who cannot tell you some unbelievable marvel he has witnessed with his own eyes.

Physicians warn that this can only be another case of faith and mental healing, but the testimony of some of the persons gathered in the hall was staggering, for the very reason that its practically forced the sane mind of an unprejudiced observer to disbelieve the evidence of his own senses.

In the hall was Christian Barthelmes, president of the Socialist Club.

Mr. Panoulias was quite willing to allow an observer behind the screen. It was there for convenience, he said, not because he had anything to hide.

He permitted the writer to watch the treatment of two patients, a paralytic baby and a middle-aged woman. In each case his treatment was practically the same. He applied his hands, sometimes touching lightly with the finger tips, sometimes rubbing vigorously. That was all. Each patient remained about 15 minutes.

"I am unwilling now to explain the nature of my power," said Mr. Panoulias, "but only because anything I said would be misunderstood. I am anxious, however, to have it proved so that I can be of the greatest possible assistance to suffering humanity. It is true that I can cure practically all so-called incurable diseases.

"I have cured two cases of cancer, one of leprosy and many of tuberculosis. I have made the blind to see and the deaf to hear. I am willing to give names, addresses and records to any responsible persons. I invite investigation."

Physicians and hospital authorities in Jersey City called Panoulias' claims impossible. They warn the public against false hopes.

But public belief has become so wide-spread that the mayor and board of health have taken the matter up officially and are making efforts to prove or disprove Panoulias' claims. They believed he is absolutely sincere, but are not prepared to indorse him unless they can get incontrovertible evidence. James K. Hagan, Chief health officer, has submitted to him 22 incurable cases. Panoulias is treating them and they are being watched.

Among these cases is a 5-year-old child with club feet. "We are watching that case and making photograph," said Mr. Hagan. "I can only tell you that child's feet have begun to straighten since Mr. Panoulias began his treatment."

TELEPHONE SERVICE MAY BE IMPROVED

Number to number service between Kane and Mt. Jewett on the Bell Telephone lines may be discontinued and the service restored to its former sattus if the business men of Kane as well as all patrons of the company here continue their demands for the more just service. Since the inauguration of the number to number method by which a toll is demanded regardless whether the party desired is reached, there has been much dissastisfaction among the residents and especially the business men of Kane and Mt. Jewett.

John O. Beam, of Erie, district manager of the territory including Kane was a visitor in this city today and when the matter was put up to him stated to a Republican representative that he would take it up with his superior who in turn would take it up with the executive board in an effort to bring about the abandonment of the number to number method between these two points.

Business men and residents of the city pay out a considerable sum in tolls from which they receive absolutely no benefit inasmuch as they are required to pay by the number to number method and they feel the method is unfair, unjust and unwarranted.

HARD DEMOCRATIC TIMES TO BE SOON DISSOLVED

Protective Tariff Expected to Again Prove to the Country It Means Prosperity

Washington, May 4.—Members of Congress who are studying the new tariff act in the making are convinced that it will restore prosperity after the economic depression which naturally resulted from the tariff-for-revenue policies of the Wilson administration.

These members have examined the records and are convinced that the tariff works with the exactness of the law of cause and effect in its relation to good and bad times in the United States. Under the Wilson tariff the country suffered from a prolonged financial panic during the Cleveland administration. Under the McKinley protective tariff there was abundant prosperity. This was continued under the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law. But during the first seven months of operation of the Underwood act in the first year of the Wilson administration soup kitchen were the rule. Longer industrial idleness was prevented by the declaration of war between England and Germany, because this raised a tariff wall which was so high that importations were impossible. With our own market secure and trade in all goods needed in warracked Europe, our prosperity was unexampled. But with the armistice the wall was removed and the country was again Underwood law. Foreign goods entered the country without stint. The result was that when President Wilson went out of office March 4 three millions of men were admitted by officials of his own choosing in the Department of Labor to be out of work.

The lowest duties collected under any of our tariff laws for more than half a century—yes, for more than three-quarters of a century—are the one provided for in the Underwood tariff law. The rates collected on imports last year were less than 6 per cent ad valorem, and there is not an important country in the world that does not have higher rates of duty. The amount of duty collected last year was $325,527,000 on imports, dutiable and free, with an average of ad valorem of less than 6 per cent. More than $5,000,000,000 worth of foreign imports came into this country in the calendar year 1920. Seventy-two per cent of the duties collected last year were collected on nine items in that tariff bill.

Just for the Week

A Promise is in real sense a vow. And a vow has two inflexible rules accompanying it: It must not be spoken without full consideration; and, once uttered, it must be kept at all costs. But there is one exception—when the vow is morally wrong.

You can't very well live up to a good reputation unless this is backed up by a good charater. But with such a backing you can achieve wonders—

You can live down a bad reputation.

IT'S DEAD CERTAIN—

—That even the most inconvenient rain brings good to some one—it even gives the hired man a chance to rest!

GOING SOME

Mr. C. L. Lorah, the Assistant District Engineer of the State Highway Department motored to Harrisburg Thursday at high noon, leaving at 5 a.m., arriving at Harrisburg at 11:45 p.m., and exchanged his yellow omnibus for a "good one."

Mr. Lorah seems very much pleased with the new one as it only took him two hours and eight minutes to return from Harrisburg. This appears to be a record for even Mr. Lorah. The old car which Mr. Lorah had been driving, previous to his trip to Harrisburg, only ran $36,000,015; 50,000 miles without oil, 30,000 without gas, 20,000 without lights and 15,000 without tires. Now if that isn't a record-breaker for a Ford what is?

A Question of Extremes

Two classes of persons need courage those who dislike to act differently from other people, and those who enjoy doing so. A man in one group is afraid of other folks, a person in the second class ought to fear his own self: The latter needs courage to fight his tendency to be peculiar for the mere sake of showing himself "his own man." The eccentric is hardly more to be admired, indeed, than the slave to convention. After all, it is a world's blessing that a host of human beings keep to the middle of the road.

FREDERICK D. RIFLE

Funeral services over the remains of Frederick D. Rifle of Norwich Township, held on Monday last, at the M. E. Church, Colegrove, Pa., were attended by a large number of relatives and friends from various sections of the county. Mr. Rifle, who was 57 years of age at the time of his death, which occurred on April 29th at his home near Betula, had suffered for some time past with hardening of the arteries and had received treatment for this fatal condition in a sanitarium at Hornell, N. Y., recently.

Mr. Rifle was the second son of the late Andrus Rifle of Norwich Township and leaves a host of friends, who together with his relatives, will mourn his death. He was a man of cheerful and optimistic temperment and will be greatly missed. Some twelve or fourteen years ago the land leased by Mr. Rifle and his brother Floyd, was found to be excellent gas territory and the development of this gas production by the Norwich Oil and Gas Company, ministered to the comfort and convenience of thousands of people in the neighborhood of the Norwich Lumber Company's operations.

The deceased is survived by a wife and four children:

Keith, Elva, Andrus, Richard, all at home. Three brothers and one sister:
